

I earned my degree in Secondary Education from the University of Southern Mississippi in 2004. When the commitment was made to go back to school and prepare myself for the ministry, I chose MBC.

“As a student in Magnolia Bible College’s B.Th. program, I am blessed to be able to do full-time ministry work and have my classes arranged around my schedule. I enjoy the fellowship with other classmates who share the same interests, feelings, and aspirations as I do.

Unlike the public university from which I came, I am not just another ID number or “student.” At MBC I am a person with a name. Every time I come for classes I am met by a loving faculty and encouraging classmates. My classmates share a common goal - to enhance our ability to proclaim God’s word. This cannot be affirmed in any public university.

Magnolia Bible College is a very affordable institution which maintains quality instruction. MBC stands out to me because everyone, faculty and students, are always striving to become better servants for the Lord.

I would have to say that one of the greatest attributes of MBC for me has been that they all strive to meet my needs. I am thankful for their understanding of my ministry. They are always available for counseling, whether it be personal or ministerial. Every time you walk into a classroom you can expect to be welcomed, not only by faculty but by fellow students. You could say that Magnolia Bible College is like a huge “welcome mat” and every time you come on campus you can expect to be treated like family! It is a family atmosphere! That is what makes Magnolia Bible College the place to be!”

Let us tell you why.

After graduating from High school in Southaven, MS, I enrolled at MBC.

“When the last semester of my senior year arrived, I evaluated the scholarships which I had received from different colleges in order to make my decision on where to go. I was still undecided between being a Bible major or majoring in mechanical engineering. I made the decision to get a degree in Bible.

Magnolia Bible College offered the same education at a fraction of the cost, a closer knit community of both students and faculty, and a better opportunity of being in the ministry while still in school. After being here only one year, I have already built close relationships with my peers, gone on a mission trip to Guyana, and worked as a youth director with a church in south Mississippi.

The education that I am receiving at MBC is pushing me to work harder than I ever did in high school. It is continually challenging me to do better. I am learning so much here. MBC is giving me the experience that I need to be a youth minister and counselor later in life.”

When it was time for me to make a career change, I decided to go to MBC.

“Matthew 25:14ff convicted me of the responsibility to use my talents for the Lord’s cause. Convicted by these thoughts, it became my intention to serve the Lord’s Church as a Gospel preacher. I decided to learn how to study and present more effectively God’s Word. At this point I stepped out on faith asking the Lord for guidance to help me find a place to gain an education that was convenient yet allowed me to support my family. It was difficult, but I left an excellent job in the HVAC industry knowing that I could serve the Kingdom by serving the Lord’s people.

The door to MBC opened quickly as seeds that had been planted long ago about the importance and impact of a Christian education grew. Coinciding with this career change, a local congregation agreed to allow me to serve them while attending college. MBC has been the best physical and spiritual fit for me to be able to preach as the 3 hour class block permits me to attend classes only one or two days a week. Small classroom settings at MBC encourage individual participation while helping students to maintain focus on the emphasis of Christian scholarship and service. Likewise, the close knit atmosphere on campus helps to direct attention to the ultimate reason that I am striving for a Bible degree which is to glorify God in every aspect of my life. MBC shares this same philosophy as it helps me to achieve my goals.

For the past three years and counting, I have grown to love the administration, staff, faculty, and everyone who supports MBC for allowing me the opportunity of my life. To gain a valuable education in a loving, yet challenging environment has been the answer to my prayers. God has richly rewarded me in my time spent in fellowship, service, and education at MBC.”

I graduated from the Memphis School of Preaching in 1996 and am now looking forward to graduating from MBC.

“I have been preaching fulltime for over twelve years and am currently serving the Tilden church of Christ.

Since graduation from MSOP, I have always desired to continue my education and get my degree in the Bible. The opportunity eventually presented itself, and I found myself taking classes at MBC.

Here are three of the many reasons why I chose this institution to continue my education.

First, as you know, the price of education today is expensive. Magnolia does its best not to allow money to be the factor which keeps students from attending. They will do everything within their power to help you raise the money, whether it be through individual support, congregational support, or government support. MBC will literally go out of their way to help you.

The second reason is because of the small classroom settings. This is beneficial since it gives you the opportunity to get to know everyone. It also gives the instructors the opportunity to develop a more personal relationship with their students and this can be very rewarding.

The third, and the most important one, is their firm stance upon the Word of God. I believe that Christian education is important, but it must be based upon the Bible. Each instructor at MBC is very sound in the faith. They all firmly believe that the Bible is the inspired Word of God. This assures me that each time I walk into a class room I do not need to fear that I will be taught something that is untrue or not found in God's Word. I know that I will always be taught the truth.

I don't know if I have ever seen love manifested as I have at MBC. It affects you in such a way that you can't help but carry that love with you throughout the week.”
